From Washington City.

WHIG CATCUS-THE SOUTH DECLARED FOR FILLMORE OR WEBSTER-SPEECH OF MR. GENTRY, ETC. SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE NEW YORK HERALD.

Washington, June 14-9 P. M.
A very full meeting of the Southern delegates took that in case they could not carry Fillmore in the convention, they should then take up Webster, and adhere to him to the last. After some discussion, the proposition was put, and carried by an overwhelming majority.

Mr. Gentry's speech, to-day, was just what was anticipated-elequent, manly, firm, and to the point. The hall was filled, and the galleries crowded, and, during its en-tire delivery, he was listened to with the deepest attention. A large number of Senators were present. The determined position assumed by Mr. Gentry has evidently created a conviction that Gen. Scott cannot expect the conceded he can have no chance of election, even if nomi-nated. What effect this will have upon the convention can only be conjectured, but the chances are daily stronger in favor of the other candidates.

Scott's friends boast they are sure of getting a sufficient number of delegates from Virginia, Tennessee, and Kentucky, after the first ballot, to nominate him. If this is the case, none of the delegates in question have

Washington Republic says that a great many delegates to the Whig National Convention have arrived here, and that the Southern delegates are unanimously for Fillmore, while the Northern delegates are divided between the three candidates.

Great Preparations at Baltimore.

ARRIVAL OF DELEGATES-EXCITEMENT AND TUMULT. Baltimone, June 14, 1852 Caltimore is in a tumult of excitement and preparation for the Whig National Convention. The arrangements at the Maryland Institute Hall, for the accommodation of the convention are on a grand scale, and no expense has e en spared to render them perfect.

Delegates are coming rapidly in, and enthusiasm is rising to fever heat.

The apnouncement has been made to day of arrangements for a grand ratification meeting.

The delegates from New York and Philadelphia are expreted to arrive to morrow night, and will be received by the whigs of the city with a procession, music, banners transparencies, &c., and escorted to their quarters. whigs of Baltimore are fully roused, and determined to give great éclat to everything connected with

WASHINGTON, June 14, 1852.
PERSONAL EXPLANATION—DISSENSION AMONG THE WIGGS. Mr. Moore, of Louislana, ontered into a personal explaustion, in reply to some remarks made by Mr. Staniy on Saturday. Mr. Moore said, as an honorable men and a whig, that a few of Filimore's friends, from the North and South, and some from the West, did occasionally assemble privately. He had the honor of being chairman of those meetings, and therefore ought to know what transpired in them. He stated most emphatically their object was not to get up a third party, as was charged, but to consult as to the most fair and honerable means to secure the nomination of Mr. Fillmore as the whig candidate. Another object was to harmonize the party, and to establish such principles and platform, that all the whigs. North and South could unite upon. He admitted he retired from the last caucus at an early hour, being disgusted with the srbitrary and partial manner in which the chairman, Mr. Mangum, decided the Compromise resolution of Mr. Marshall, of Kentucky, to be out of order.

THE NEW LAND DISTRIBUTION BILL—THE OLD AND NEW STATES to SHARE ALIKE.

The House resumed the consideration of the bill reported by Mr. Bennett, granting lands to the new States for railroads, &c., and to the eld for educational purposes—the lands to be appropriated at the rate of 150,000 acrees for each Senator, and Representative in Congress, and to each of the organized territories and the District of Columbia, 150,000 acrees all the land granted by any other act during the present session of Congress to any State, to aid in the construction of any railroad therein, to be deducted from the amount granted by this bill to such State. The object was an equalization of grants to all the States. occasionally assemble privately. He had the honor of Mr. Joses, two decided in the negative, by yeas, 85; nays, 95.

Up to the expiration of the morning hour nothing definite was done with this matter. THE WHEELING BRIDGE.

BY. THOMPSON, (dem.) of Va., made an ineffectual effort behave a bill from the Post Office Committee, in relation the Wheeling Bridge, made the special order for Monay next.

Several Pennsylvania members promptly opposed this.

The House then went into committee, and took up the Indian appropriation bill.

Mr. Gentry, (whig) of Tenn, addressed the members clustered around him, the lobby spectators, and others, in reply to the speech of Mr. Stanly. He said the gendeman, although he declared for Fillimore as his first choice, was, by his speeches and letters, preparing the whigs to accept Scott as their Presidential candidate. He differed from Mr. Stanly, and regarded it as of the highest importance, and above party, that the whigs, like the democratic, plant themselves on the constronies measures. If they refuse thus to nationalize themselves, the rectional strift, which had been partially healed, would again bresk out. He (Mr. Gentry) gave the democratic ce dit for having in their platform come up to the necessides of the times, and said the whigs at Baltimare must nationalize themselves or coses to exist, as recured to the South. It was his opinion that Gen. Scott could not receive the vote of one Southern State. Scott has no nervonal attributes which make the people love him. They merely respect him as a military hero; and this is the beginning and the ending. He will prove to be the weakest man ever run for President. The free sollers at the North finding that Scott cannot get one southern State will present him, underthelead of Seward, as a sectional candidate.

Mr. Campell. (Irce soil) of Ohio, obtained the floor, and yielded litto

Mr. Stanir. (whig) of N. C., who replied to Mr. Gentry. He deviced that he had been trying to prepare the public mind for Scott. He said he was no man's vassal, and was elected as a freeman. His argument had been to show that the great mass of both parties are true to the constitution. He believed that agitation is dying away. Why then fan it up by the course which the gentleman from Tennessee (Mr. Gentry) and his friends propose?

Mr. Stanir speke for nearly an hour, and repeated.

theman from Tennessee (Mr. Gentry) and his friends propose?

Mr. Stanly speke for nearly an hour, and repeated that General Scott went as far as any man in his efforts to procure the pessage of the compromise measures.

The committee then rose.

Mr. Romins, (dem.) of Pa., wished to offer a resolution, that the House adjourn, to morrow, until Saturday, Mr. Jowes, (dem.) of Tenn., said that, to morrow, he would vote to adjourn until Saturday, to accommodate the whig side. The subject was then passed over.

Mr. Saymour, (den.) of N. Y., from the Committee on Commerce, reported a bill making appropriations for the improvement of certain rivers and harbors. Referred to the Committee of the Whole on the State of the Union.

The House then adjourned.

the Secretary of State of the republic, on the 16th. The Monitor Republicano publishes an important decree

The Monitor Republicane publishes an important decree passed by Congress, as follows:

Article 1.—Government will conclude a contract, or promote the foundation of a Company, (preferring natives in all cases,) for the opening by canal, rairond, or wagon road, of a line of communication between the Atlantic and Pacific eccans by the 1sthmus of Tehnantepee. Government shall not have the power to execute any contract, unless it be previously approved by the General Contract.

Article 2.—Government, in exercising the powers conceded to it by the previous article, shall be bound by the following conditions:—1st. That the contract shall contain no clause which may favor, by the rights which it concedes, demands from foreign governments against this republic, nor impair in any way, the full and prompt exercise of its sovereignty on the said Isthmus of Tehuantepee 2d. To give the enterprise more effected and constant protection, the government shall be one of the partners of the contract. 3d. LARGE FIRE AND LOSS OF LIFE.

A fire broke out about half-past one o'clock this morning in the five story brick building on the corner of Pearl and Broad streets, known as the Washington Head quarters, kept by Mr. E. Buermeyer as a German boarding-house. The fire originated in the fourth story, and so suddenly did the flames come upon the inmates, that a woman—before the firemen could reach her, and in order, as she no doubt supposed, to save barself from the devouring element—jumped from one of the fifth story windows, and was forced through a tin-roofed awning on to the side walk. Her name we were unable to ascertain, but we learn she has since died. A young man oscaped from the fourth story by letting himself down the tin leader; and an old man between sixty and seventy years of age, was taken from the fourth story by the firemen, and thus snatched from impending destruction. As usual our praiseworthy firemen neglected the burning building, in their humane endeavors to save its inmates, and have thus clougd their celebration day with another gallant achievement. It is said a great number of boarders were in the house at the time, and it is feared that some have prished in the flames. The building was totally deserted. rished in the manner, the troyed.

The Imperial Parliament opened its session on the 3d uit. The Senators and Deputies met in the Senate, at noon, on that day, under the Presidency of Senor Cassians Spiridao de Mello Maitos. At 1 o clock the Emperor arrived. He was received by the President and Secretaries. united with the deputation, who accompanied the Em-united with the deputation, who, accompanied the Emperor to his throne, upon which he sat down. After having saluted the Senators and Deputics, he pronounced the following discourse:

August and worthy representatives of the nation:

I am plended, at the opening of each session, to amounce to you that the empire enjoys the most perfect tranquility.

The time consecrated to the last legislative session, was certainly insufficient to allow you to take into consideration and to receive the numerous and complicated projects which I recommended to your illustrious patriotism, when I opened the last legislative Assembly.

I trust that you will pursue with new vigor the difficult and glerious task of the tariff, which I strengly recommend to you.

My government continues, and will continue, to represe the tradic (the slave trade) which had been so much abated since the preceding legislative session. I hope that, by means of your vigorous attention necessary for the settlement of that tariff, all the shameful and bass speculations, which the men greedy of gain oppose, will then disappear. I count always upon your entire support for all the means judged by experience necessary for a complete extinction of such an abominable commerce.

The empire is in good relations of peace with all foreign powers.

necessary for a complete extinction of such an abominable commerce.

The empire is in good relations of peace with all foreigst powers.

In order to expel General Oribe from the territory of the Oriental republic, and establish its independence. I contracted an alliance with its government, and those of the States of Entre Rios and Corrientes, in order to withdraw the powers conceded to D. Jose Manuel de Rosas, to represent that government in the exterior.

The defeats suffered by General Oribe rendered it impossible for him to resist the allied forces, and obliged him to ask for a capitulation, which was settled with General D. Justo Jose de Urquiza.

The Governor of Buenos Ayres had formally declared his intention to make war against Brazil. I contracted with the Oriental Republic, and the States of Entre Rios and Corrientes, a new alliance, in virtue of which I sent them assistance, in order to destroy the worse power of that government, and after the constitution and organization of the Argentine Confederation, entertain with it those political relations of good neighborhood which are so convenient for the two countries, and which the system of the before named Governor rendered impossible.

Victory splendidly crowned the arms of the allied forces, and the power of D. Jose Manual de Rosas ended at the battle of Monte Caseros.

With pleasure, I declare in your presence that our army, as well the first of the regiment of the line as the National Guard, conducted themselves with the greatest bravery and discipline, and that the division which was present at the battle of Monte Caseros, acquired for them and for the cambridge of the surface of the confirming those recent and the particle of Monte Caseros, acquired for them army, as well the first of the regiment of the line as the National Guard, conducted themselves with the greatest bravery and discipline, and that the division which was present at the battle of Monte Caseros, acquired for them and to the continue of the first of the regiment of the line as t

After these words, the Emperor and the Empress, with the same ceremonies which they had received, retired to sitting.

According to the report of the Secretary of the Treasury of Brazil, presented to Congress, the finances of the empire are in a very flourishing state. The following shows the revenue for a series of years:

MELANCHOLY ACCIDENT — SEVEN PRIBORS DROWNED — The New Bronswicker (St. John) states that on Tursday last, near Horton. Nova Scotia, the Reverond Edward D. Very, Professor Chipman, and four students belonging to Acadia College, lost their lives by the upsetting of a beat. The party left with two boatmen, on an excursion to Cape Blomidon, intending to collect specimens of the mineral treasures to be found in that lecality. They spent the day in that pursuit, and were returning with the afternoon's tide. As they approached the opposite shore, the wind freehened until it blew agale, and the boat shipped a sea which half filled her. They tabled out the water, and were endeavoring to tack, for the purpose of taking shelter in Habitant river when the beat was struck by a sea, and swemped. Those on board cloudy to the boat as long as they had strength, but one by one they were washed away. Mr. Very was the last,
